ANCIENT COINS

Compton Dundon Hoard of Late Roman Coins.

In 2017 an important hoard of Roman coins was found in the village of Compton Dundon in Somerset, the exact location has been kept secret, but the hoard is known as "The Compton Dundon Hoard". The hoard consisted of 564 base metal coins of the denomination "Nummus", previously termed "Centenionalis". Importantly a large part of the hoard consisted of coins of the usurper Emperor Magnentius and his brother Decentius (AD 350-53). The hoard was recorded as GLO-574C93 and declared as treasure and a selection was acquired by the Museum of Somerset after being recorded and partially cleaned by the British Museum. The Christogram coins of the usurper Emperors are one of the most demonstrative of the Christian faith within Roman coinage.

This the hoard (lot 1 – 34) is offered for sale in its "Museum cleaned condition" ready to be finally conserved and improved. CD references are those used by the British Museum in the identification listing.

The Persian king of the Sassanian Dynasty, Shapur I, was able to defeat the Roman Emperor Valerian at Edessa. The two empires had been at war for much time, and Shapur was able to take advantage of the chaotic Crisis of the Third Century. When Valerian was defeated, Shapur I kept him captive for the remainder of his life and the defeat has made for inspiration for the celebratory rock carvings at Fārs. The carvings date to 260 CE and show the defeated emperor bowing to the victorious Shapur, who is crowned on horseback. Legend says that Shapur would use Valerian as a footstool each time he mounted his horse, and once he had died, Shapur had him stuffed and displayed. This, a wonderful coin with rich canary yellow surfaces, recalls the power of the king who defeated a Roman emperor.

BRITISH MEDALS

AN EXCEPTIONALLY RARE BADGE FOR THE CORONATION OF CHARLES II

421. Charles II, Coronation 1661, gilt-silver oval Royalist badge, in the style of Thomas Simon, crowned bust r., wearing ornate lace cravat and wearing Garter Collar and George, legend in incuse, CAROLVS II DG ANG SCO FR ET HI REX, rev. the King enthroned, crowned by Peace, legend in incuse, EVERS MISSVS SVCCVRRERE SECLO XXIII APR 1661, wreath border to both sides with rose at sides and bottom, 41 x 28mm. (MI.473/77; pl. 45, 8), suspension loop (single link attached), the loop re-affixed (probably a contemporary repair), good very fine and an exceptionally rare badge £1000-1250
- Old ticket, believed from B. A. Seaby, dated 1959 (£9.10.00)

The badge is clearly derived from Thomas Simon's official Coronation medal and, quite possibly, could be cast from a specimen. The legends are identical, though engraved and incuse. The wreath border follows the style of the badges of his father. MI lists three examples, two in the British Museum and one in the Hunterian, of which two are gilt. No examples appear in the obvious sale catalogues, Montagu, Murdoch, Farquhar, Heckett or more recently, Christopher Foley or Peter Earthy. The cataloguers have been unable to trace another example in commerce.

422. Victoria, gold medal issued for the coronation, 1838, Benedetto Pistrucci, diad. bust l., rev. Victoria seated, receiving her crown from Britannia, Scotia and Hibernia, lion behind, wt. 30.56gms. (BHM.1801; Eimer 1315; Woll.xvii; W&E.88.3; Stef. Vol. I, pl. 32), certified and graded by PCGS as Uncirculated Details, Edge Damaged £6000-7000

This piece was originally certified and graded by NGC as Mint State 62, with no mention of edge damage.

Sometimes the grading companies identify this issue as edge damage or bent (as seen in our auction 69, lot 268), due to the way the pieces are made. These medals are struck in very high relief and so can appear concave or damaged to the edge.

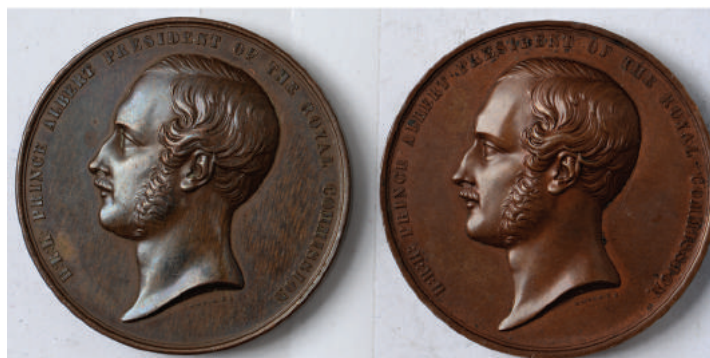

Sold with Canada Coin News clipping (volume 56, no. 26) of the medal advertised as being for sale in auction where it realised $16,1000, more than doubling the presale estimate of $8,000.

423. London, The Westminster Fire Office, established 1717, Director's gold pass, issued for 1821-1822, to Charles Finch, signed I.P., Prince of Wales's plumes over the Westminster portcullis suspended from chains, rev. engraved details within oak wreath, 40.5mm., wt. 37.2gms. (D&W. 164/489; Withers 2327), choice, brilliant surface, virtually mint state £1500-2000

Charles Finch was 'The medallist "I.P." remains a mystery; Forrer (BDM, p. 395), lists the piece as by Conrad Küchler for James Watt & Co., formerly Soho Mint. Pidgeon, who also worked for James Watt & Co., but the initial "T" does not tally. Isaac Parkes is an unlikely "I.P." and the non-appearance of the medal in Eimer's The Pingo Family, would seem to rule out a member of that family.

WORLD MEDALS

430. Australia, The Sydney International Exhibition, 1879, “First Special Award” prize medal in copper, by J. S. & A. B. Wyon, from designs by Samuel Begg and James Sayers, figure of Australia with shield and industrial and artistic trophies, before façade of exhibition building, rev named in wreath of Australian fruits and flora “S. Grant – First Special Award”, 76.5mm, extremely fine, scarce £120-150

The Sydney International Exhibition (17 September 1879 - 20 April 1880) was a determining landmark in the history of the Colony of New South Wales, and was Australia’s first International Exhibition. The Exhibition Catalogue has no entry for S. Grant as an exhibitor; indeed the only Grant seems to be The Hon. James Macpherson Grant, M.P., Minister of Justice, a ‘Member’ of the Commissioners.

MEDALS BY SUBJECT

437. Art Medal, USA, “Hopi / Prayer for Rain”, very slightly oval bronze medal [1931], by Herman Atkins MacNeil (1866-1947), for the Society of Medallists and struck by the Medallie Art Company, issue three, Five Hopi Indian dancers, two with snakes in their mouths, lightning design beyond, rev. Indian runs with snakes whilst others follow, lightning in skies above, 70 x 73.5mm. (Baxter p. 82, 354), light tan patina with hints of green, extremely fine and scarce £150-200

Herman MacNeil is best remembered as the designer of the Standing Liberty Quarter. His 1901 award medal for the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, also features Indians and he had visited reservations in the South-West prior to designing it. The Hopi are from North-East Arizona. The medal is also illustrated by James E. Haas, “American Sculptor in the Broad, Bright Daylight”.

438. Education / Politics, William Pitt, the younger and Merchant Taylors' School, glazed silver prize medal, awarded to William Herbert Maddock, 24 June, 1858, the Pitt Club Exhibitioner, by B Wyon, bust of Pitt right, rev details engraved within wreath, 46mm., silver frame with suspension loop and ring, nearly extremely fine and very rare £80-120

The medal's recipient would seem to be the William Herbert Maddock (b. 1841) who, in the 1881 census, was listed as “Schoolmaster, MA Oxon, Clerk in Holy Orders” at Kington, Herefordshire.

NUMISMATIC LITERATURE

439. Railways: Canada, Richard Trevithick (1771-1833), Directors Presentation Medal of the Grand Trunk Railway, copper, 1860, by J. S. Wyon, bust of Richard Trevithick I. (after the bust by Neville Northey Burnard, 1818-1878) GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY COMPANY OF CANADA, rev. inscription within wreath of maple leaves, tablet for recipient's name, name of donor on edge in impressed lettering, F. H. TREVITHICK LOCO. SUPERINT^T., 45mm. (Moyaux 49; BHM.2681; Eimer 1537; Swan 371), in dark green leather case of issue, with stamp of Joseph S. Wyon on inner lid silk, extremely fine and rare, especially so with the Trevithick naming £350-450

Frederick Henry Trevithick (1816-1902), locomotive and carriage superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, was born in Penzance, the second son of the engineer Richard Trevithick, "farther of the locomotive engine". He was to build the first locomotive in Canada, named "Trevithick" after his father and for use by the Grand Trunk Railway. The initial line of the railway ran between Toronto and Montreal, though it would soon expand into the United States to Portland, Maine and eventually to western Canada. The portrait on the medal is from the bust by the Cornish sculptor Neville Northey Burnard (now in the Royal Cornwall Museum, Truro).
